SOUTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

1963

This is the place we have chosen. Here we learn, grow, and expand. A small place, close, limited, yet unlimited as the space and air about it. Concept within concept and world moving within the tiny micro-cosm that is Southwestern University. There are concepts to ponder, worlds to explore, and things to challenge.

Southwestern University is constantly changing. The students of this university are also constantly changing. The mind—that vague and mysterious possession locked within each personality—is constantly moving, searching, and growing.

To sum up the feelings and activities of the students of Southwestern University the 1963 Sou'wester staff records the happenings of the 1962-1963 school year.

As you thumb through yearbooks, old and new, one thing comes to mind . . . "I am looking at a school yearbook." All yearbooks have those little things that make them common to other yearbooks—page after page of nothing but individual class pictures . . . monotonous use of type . . . most contain no real information; however, within the covers of this book you will find the most readable, comprehensive account available of the happenings of the 1962-1963 school year as they concerned Southwestern University.

The Sou'wester presents a changed look for a changing university.

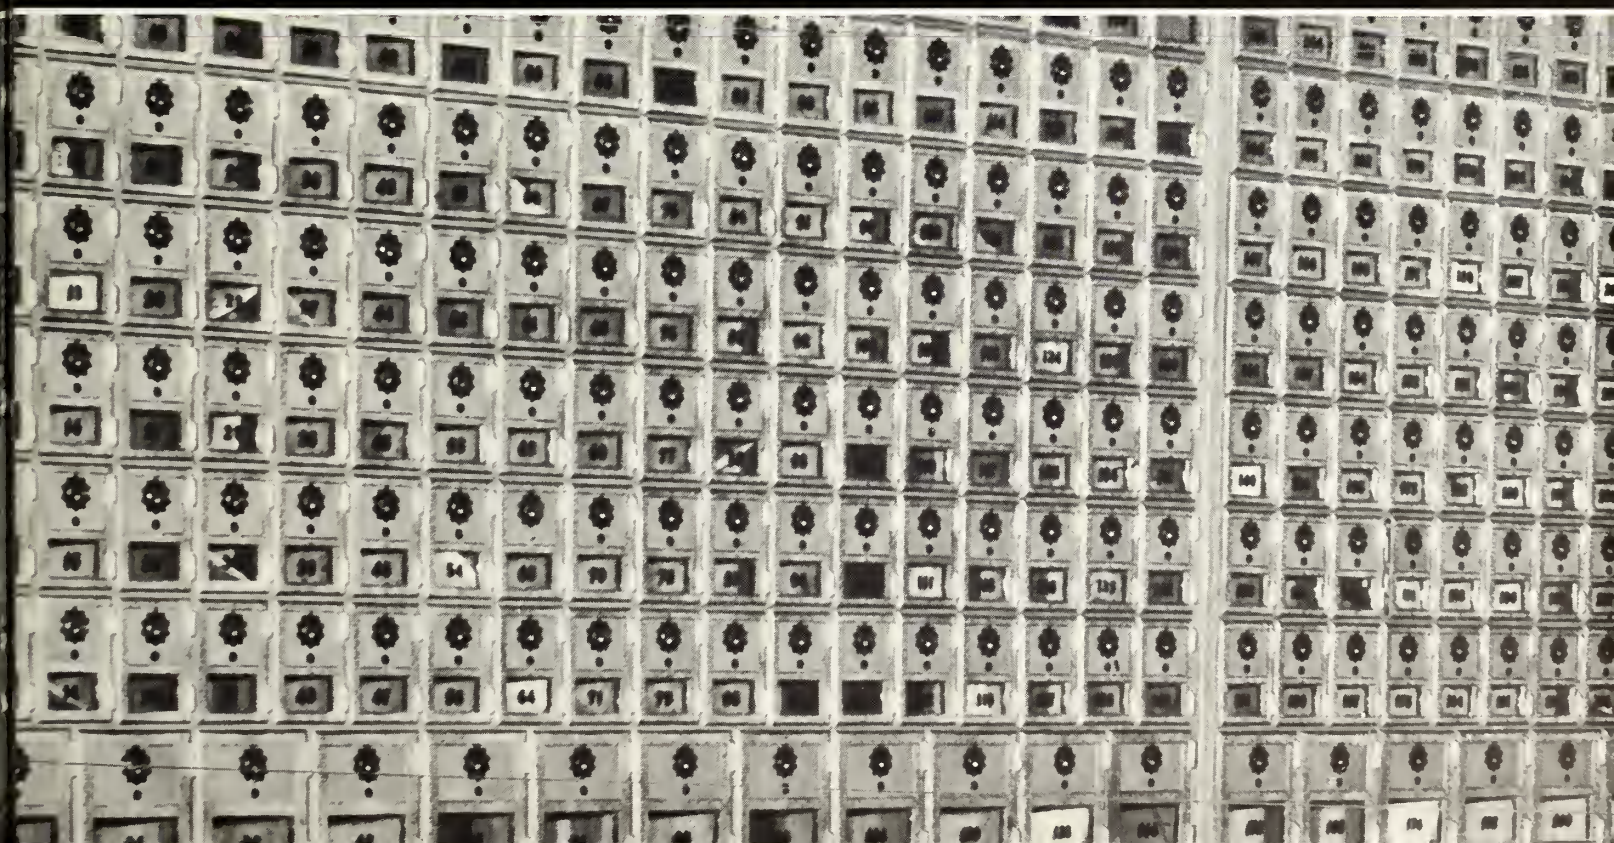

What happens to a college student's time? He spends it . . . experimenting in the various labs . . . listening to lectures . . . reading in the library . . . studying all night before an exam . . .

... attending classes at 8 O'clock in the morning ... signing Assembly and Chapel slips ... checking the mail ... hunting a chair in the SUB ... meeting to discuss activities ...

...eating in the Commons...eating at Lloyd's and the Dairy Hill...walking across the campus...attending an all-school dance...practicing and rehearsing for presentations...

...cheering at the fraternity games...cheering for the Southwestern Pirates...going through sorority or fraternity Rush...attending all the sorority and fraternity pledge receptions...

... enjoying those last five minutes on the backsteps of Kurth Hall ... working hard to be a good pledge ... waiting to see the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women ... dropping courses ...

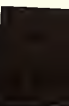

...attending sorority and fraternity parties...caroling at the fraternity houses...enjoying San Gabriel Park and the Boodies...meeting new friends...taking part in college life.

The College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Fine Arts work together to produce at Southwestern an intellectual and spiritual environment, in which the whole personality of the student may develop to its fullest. It is the function of the university to develop mature, resourceful individuals, excellent in person as well as in scholarship.

The academic work of the college is carried on through three divisions which correspond to the main areas of human thought: Divisional organization facilitates administration and curriculum planning but is not taken to indicate that academic endeavors exist in isolated compartments. The divisions of the College of Arts and Sciences include the Division of the Humanities, the Division of Social Sciences, and the Division of Natural and Applied Sciences.

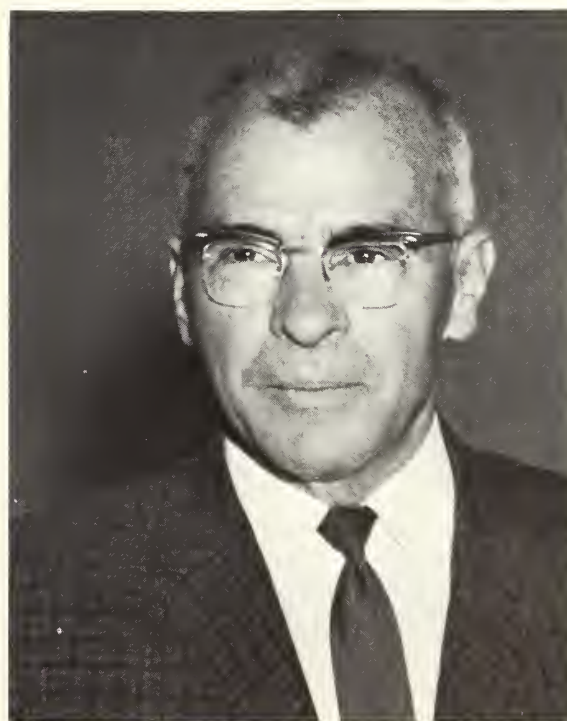

Fredrick Burr Clifford
Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences

The purpose of the School of Fine Arts is to prepare students professionally in art, music, or drama. The student will be required to show evidence of a high degree of proficiency in creative performance, undergirded by intellectual activities pertinent to his particular field. Contributing to the artistic and personal development of the student are such liberal arts subjects as will give him breadth and intellectual solidity.

The second purpose is to provide opportunities for any interested student in the university to participate in class, studio, and organizational activities of the School of Fine Arts.

Finally the purpose of the School of Fine Arts is to function as an aesthetic and cultural force for the university, the community, and the Southwest.

The forerunner of Southwestern University was chartered as Rutgersville College in 1840. Southwestern is related also to Wesleyan College, San Augustine, 1844; McKenzie College, Clarksville, 1848; and Soule University, Chappell Hill, 1856.

By action of the five Texas Methodist Conferences a central university was planned and located at Georgetown. The institution reopened in 1873 and was named Texas University. In 1875 the university assumed its present name. The graduates of the Texas institutions which preceded the present university enjoy all the privileges and honors of other graduates of Southwestern. Southwestern is Texas' oldest university.

Southwestern University is located at Georgetown, Texas, a city with a population of 6,000. Georgetown is twenty-six miles north of Austin on the main line of the MK&T Railroad, and is served by highways 81 and 29, with bus connections available.

The grounds of the university comprise altogether more than five hundred acres within and adjoining the corporate limits of Georgetown. During recent years the campus has been beautified by the planting of trees, the building of walks, and the installation of a sprinkler system. On the campus and convenient to the dormitories are the tennis courts, Snyder Field, and athletic fields for all intramural sports.

Most of the buildings on the Southwestern campus are constructed of native limestone. Some of the buildings are very old, such as the Administration Building, completed in 1898, and some of the buildings are very new, such as Kurth Dormitory, completed in 1962. The newest building is the President's Home which was completed this past summer.

The Administration Building was completed in 1898. It is a three-story structure of white limestone. This building houses the administrative offices and classrooms. Some of the classrooms are new modern language laboratories and others are equipped with television sets for television conducted classes.

The Bishops Memorial Union, erected in 1958 and honoring the six Methodist bishops from the alumni and staff of Southwestern University, is a magnificent limestone structure which provides modern recreational facilities including lounges, snack bar, bookstore, bowling alleys, game and conference rooms, music room and other areas.

The Alma Thomas Theatre and Fine Arts Center, a beautiful limestone structure erected in 1956 and containing a theatre, art gallery, studios, practice rooms, offices, patio, is the gift of Mrs. Alma Thomas of Austin, trustee of Southwestern University.

Southwestern University and the citizens of Georgetown and Williamson County participate in a joint artist series in which outstanding actors, musicians, dancers, and other fine arts programs are presented in the Alma Thomas Fine Arts Theatre.

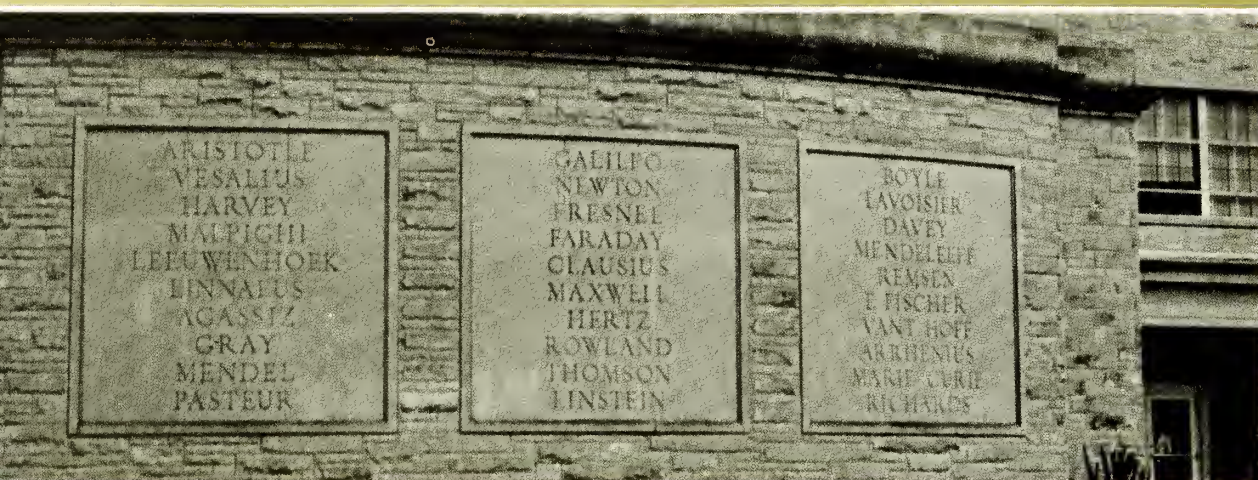

The Lois Perkins Chapel, a semi-Gothic church built of native stone with a seating capacity of one thousand, was erected in 1950, a gift of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Perkins of Wichita Falls. This building was named in honor of Mrs. Perkins, an alumna of Southwestern University. The magnificent windows in the chapel depict, in life size figures, leaders in Christianity and leaders in Methodism with other beautiful windows appropriate to the religious setting.

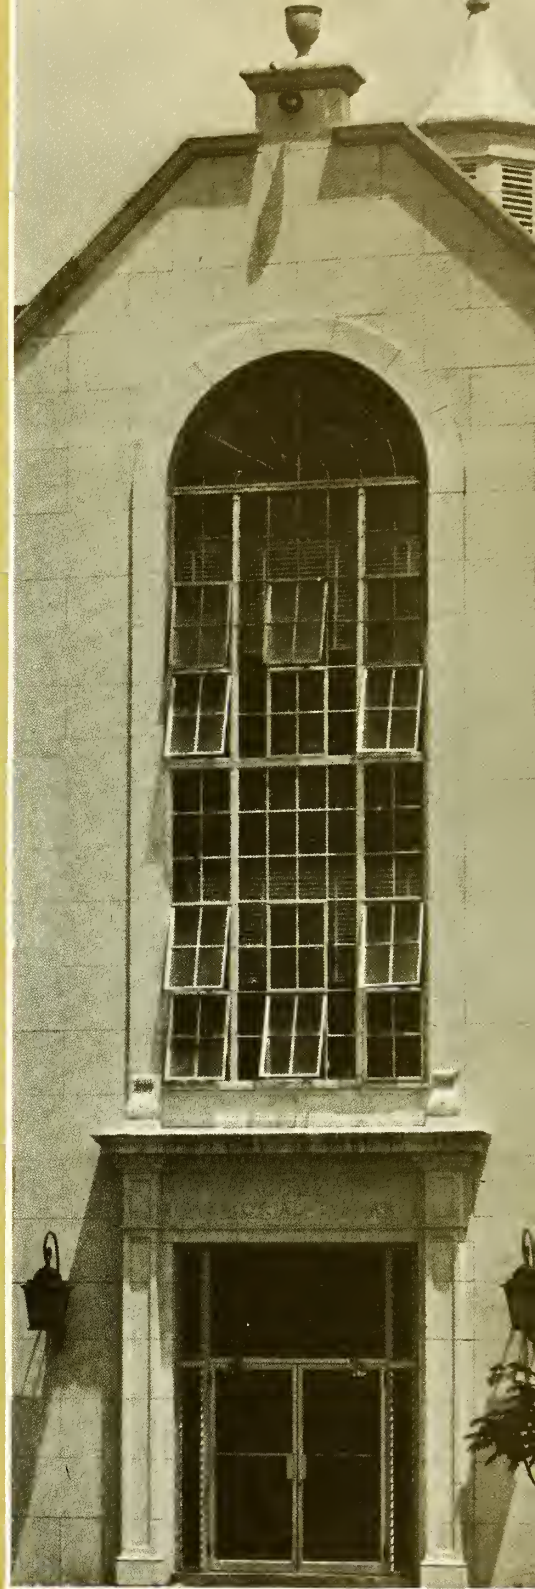

The Kyle E. White Religious Activities Center, a one-story limestone building completed in 1956, provides modern and specialized facilities for students preparing to be directors of Christian education, offices of the chaplain and professors in the department, and for the director of town and country work of the church. The building was made possible by the late Mrs. Kyle E. White of Anahuac in memory of her husband.

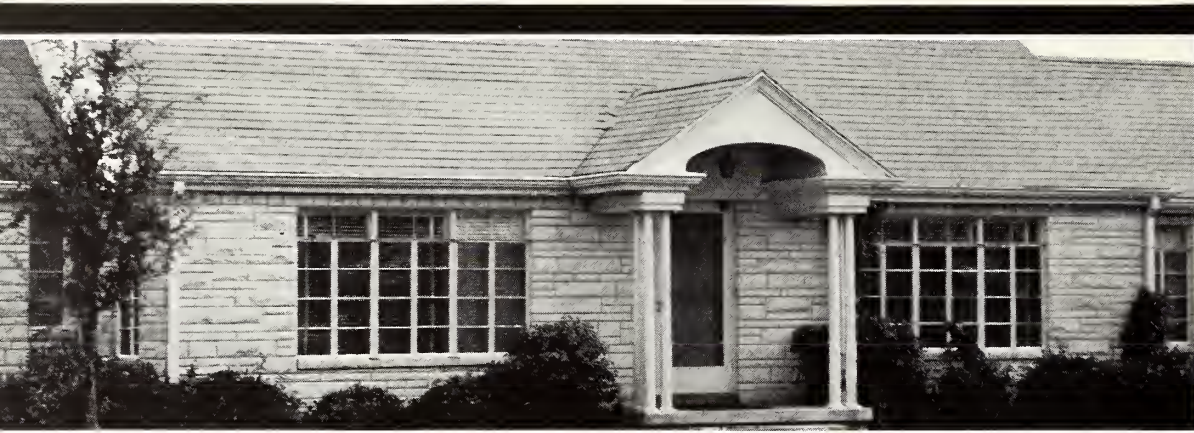

The Fondren Science Hall is a modern limestone structure that is three stories high. The building contains the most modern laboratories and equipment. It was completed in 1954 and was made possible by Mrs. W. W. Fondren of Houston.

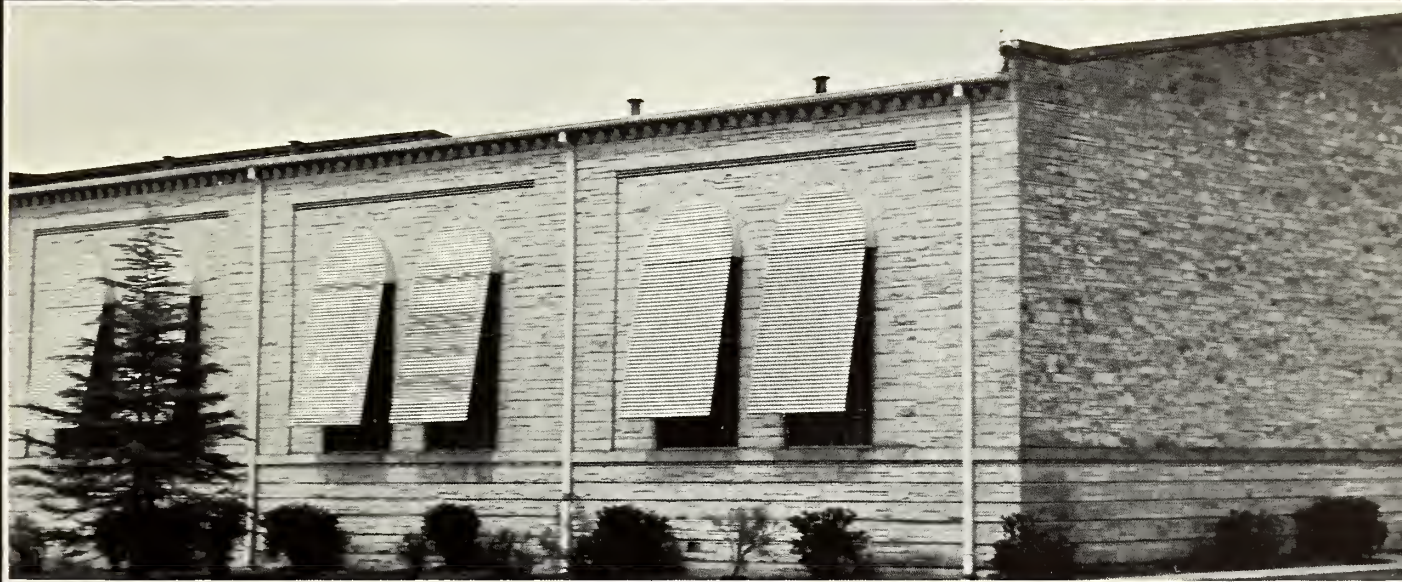

The Cody Memorial Library was erected in 1939 in honor of the late Professor Claude Carr Cody, Ph.D., who was for many years a professor and dean at Southwestern University. This library is a three-story limestone structure which houses stacks for approximately 75,000 volumes, large reading rooms, rooms for special collections, and staff offices.

The McCook-Crain Clinic is a modern limestone structure built in 1953 in memory of Lieutenant Charles Woodruff McCook, alumnus of Southwestern University, and of Mr. E. L. Crain, alumnus and long-time trustee of Southwestern University. This building provides for the students a modern health service.

The Home Economics and Secretarial Science Hall was built in 1945. In this building are classrooms and laboratories for the departments of home economics and secretarial science. This building is located north of Mood Hall.

The West Gymnasium provides facilities for physical and health education and athletic activities. It was built in 1941 through a gift of the late J. M. West, Sr. of Houston, long-time member of the Board of Trustees of Southwestern University.

Mood Hall, built in 1908 as a memorial to Dr. Francis Asbury Mood (the first president of Southwestern University at its Georgetown location) and remodeled in 1943, is a three-story stone building used as a men's dormitory.

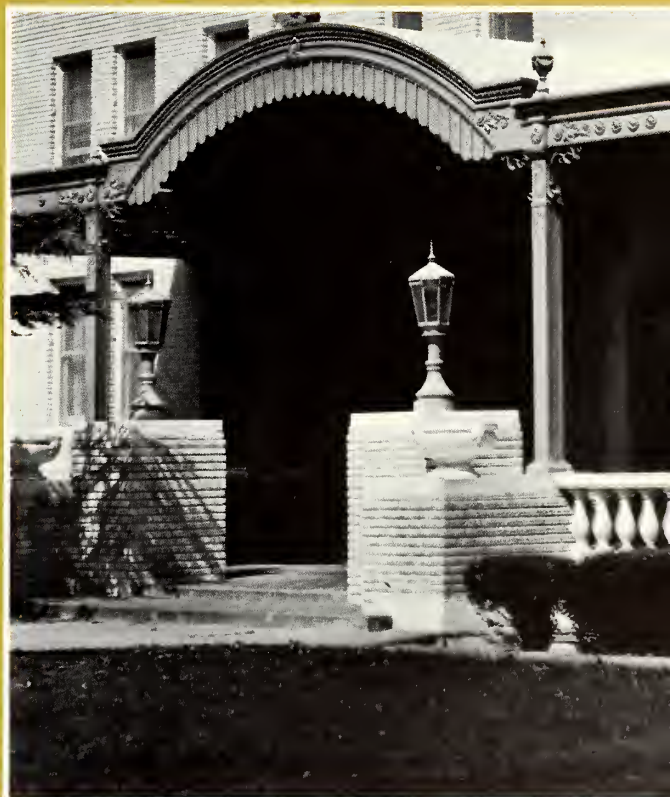

The Martin Ruter Dormitory, erected in 1955, in honor of Martin Ruter, pioneer missionary and educator, is a three-story limestone dormitory for men students. Funds for this building were provided by the Central Texas, Southwest Texas and Texas Conferences of the Methodist Church.

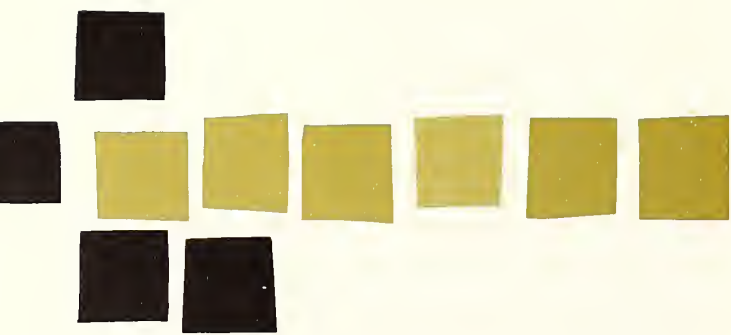

Kurth Dormitory, for women students, was completed in 1962 and named in honor of the late Mr. E. L. Kurth of Lufkin, an alumnus, benefactor and trustee of this university. The three-story dormitory is of limestone and is located east of Laura Kuykendall Hall. Most of the residents are upper-classmen girls.

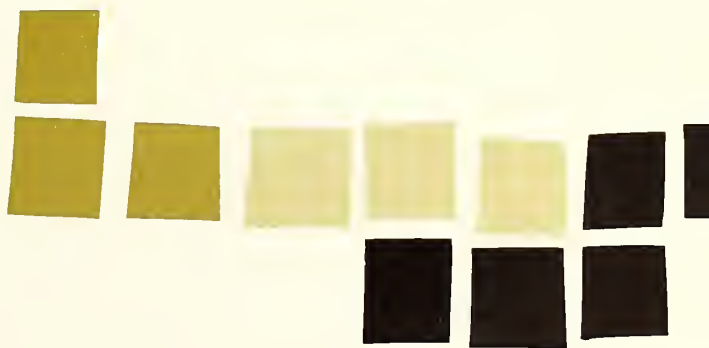

Laura Kuykendall Hall, women's dormitory, is a three-story structure built in 1926 and named in honor of the late Laura Kuykendall, long-time dean of women at Southwestern University.

ORGAN

IZATIONS

Southwestern students pursue their collegiate careers as members of a residential community. In this community academic work is the primary focus of attention; but a university is more than a series of classrooms, and learning experiences are not neatly bounded by the bells which mark the end of class periods. Every effort is made by the faculty and students to have campus life in its widest sense contribute to the attainment of the aims of the university.

Effective campus activities cannot be carried on without the cooperation of all members of the community. Southwestern University seeks students who envision the possibilities for twenty-four-hour-a-day learning. Registration in Southwestern University is therefore a declaration of acceptance of the regulations and standards of conduct established for the maintenance of the most stimulating type of campus life.

One of the major opportunities offered at Southwestern is the development of leadership and self-discipline in student government. Here students work to coordinate campus planning, and are able to develop their own strengths in self-government.

The central organ of student government at Southwestern is the Student Senate, composed of representation from all the classes. The senate operates in accordance with its constitution to carry out the aims of the student body.

President of the Student Senate
Jay Huntley Kenesson

STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate, organization of student government, meets weekly on Tuesday evenings to discuss matters relevant to the Student Body, and to decide questions relating to student government problems.

The officers are Jay Huntley Kenesson, President, Linda Janine Wilson, Secretary, David Walter Bauguess, Vice-President, and Donald Edward Ward, Treasurer. Dean Martha Allen is the Sponsor.

STUDENT UNION BUILDING GOVERNING BOARD

The Student Union Building Governing Board programs and carries out Student Union Building activities. During the school year there are several dances, pep rallies, movies, and programs held in the Student Union Building.

The ruling body of the Union is comprised of students, faculty, and staff. The President of the Board is elected by the Student Body; all other student members are elected to their positions by the retiring Governing Board. The one exception is the Vice-President of the Students' Association who serves by virtue of his office. The University President appoints the faculty members.

Those who established the Union policies for 1962-1963 are Miss Connie Clendenin, Director of Union, Alfred Whitney Kandeler and Cherryl Rae Knippa, Co-Presidents, and Linda Claire Olson, Secretary.

The Directorate of the Union are the chairmen of the various Union committees. For this year they are Mary Ruth Goodloe and William Bernard Sandberg, Cosmopolitan, William Gray Fair and Nancy Ann Northington, Dance, William Lowell Wall and Steven Allen Raben, Evaluation, James Stanley Mendenhall and Anthony Clay Cecil, Forum, Rebecca Sue Mays and James Russell Winn, Games, Kathleen Doyle Harris and Carol Lynn Robinson, Hospitality, Judith Mary Thornton and Sanford Downs Coon, Movies, Marcella Wichman and Judith Anne Ledbetter, Publicity, Charles Lyons Shaw and Laura Paul Bohmfalk, Special Events, and James Winton Bohmfalk, Megaphone Correspondent.

HONOR COUNCIL

The students of Southwestern have believed in living and working in a place where their integrity is respected and their word is accepted as completely valid. For this reason, the students have established and maintained the Honor System at Southwestern University.

While the responsibility for the maintenance of this Honor System rests on every individual student, the mechanics for the maintenance of the Honor System are carried out by the Honor Council, which is composed entirely of students who are elected by the Student Body as representatives of each class. The Honor Council investigates each reported violation of the system, conducts a thorough trial, and imposes a just penalty if the accused is found guilty.

The members are Sylvia Louise Simons, Steven Allen Raben, Chairman, David McCanne Lemmons, Patricia Sue Tanner, Secretary, Judith Belle Love, Cherryl Rae Knippa, Rolly Terry Mashburn, Joanna Marie Morgan, Alvin Michael Spiekerman, and Jon Michael Franks.

MOOD HALL HOUSE COUNCIL

One of the most important aspects of student life is dormitory living. While living in the dormitory you have the opportunity to help with the self-government of the dormitory in which you live. Each area of the dorm elects a representative to the House Council, a group which meets regularly to conduct the affairs of the residents.

The Mood Hall House Council is composed of Jack Leo Bodden, Steven Allen Raben, President, Robert Wells Loveless, Henry Ohland Pocock, James Winton Bohmfalk, Glenn Whiteman Wortham, Robert Thornton Smith, and William Bernard Sandberg. Not pictured are Jerry Joe Knauff, Vice-President, and Don Rowland Trompler, Secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiggins serve as the Directors of Mood Hall.

RUTER DORMITORY HOUSE COUNCIL

The Ruter Dormitory House Council is the self-governing body of this dormitory. The members are elected by the students living in this dormitory and the council meets regularly to conduct the affairs of the residents.

The Council includes Wade Graham Sullivan, Jon Michael Franks, Donald Wade Randall, Dewey Nelson Ervin, President, and William Allan Williams.

LAURA KUYKENDALL HOUSE COUNCIL

The self-government of Laura Kuykendall Hall is also carried on by a House Council. Members are Pamela Fannin, Treasurer, Pamela Marie Byrd, Carolyn Sue Kilgore, President, Sandra Ann Frederick, Judith Ann Ledbetter, Vice-President, Frances Anne Rawlings, Paula Ann Huestis, Dorothy Jean Bohmfalk, Secretary, Wilma Kathryn Weimer, Sharon Ann Brown, and Nana Lucyle Watson. Mrs. Helen Switzer and Mrs. Lillian White are the Directors of this dormitory.

E. L. KURTH HOUSE COUNCIL

E. L. Kurth is a dormitory for upperclass women. The governing board of this dormitory is composed of Karen Mae Hamme, Patricia Sue Tanner, President, Carol Lynn Robinson, Treasurer, Carlita Hughes, and Troy Ann Israel. Not pictured are Rebecca Sue Mays, Vice-President, Glenda Jane Roe, Secretary, Clementine Helen Boettcher, Carolyn Campbell Canady, and Margaret Ann Benjamin.

Unfortunately, an early deadline prevents the Sou'wester staff from covering all the Spring events. Here briefly, are some of the events Southwestern has to look forward to this spring.

The annual Homecoming for Southwestern University, the presentation of Miss Southwestern for 1963, some one-act plays by the Mask and Wig Players, numerous sports events, and graduation are just a few of the many events that take place in the spring.

At this time though there are many people to whom I would like to give my sincere thanks: to Mr. Neal Putman, the sponsor of the Sou'wester, whose leadership and guidance has made this Sou'wester possible; to our professional photographer, Mr. Horace Evans; to Mr. O. M. Montgomery, representative of Myers Yearbooks, Incorporated; to Miss Mary Elizabeth Fox, for her tireless work; to all the members of the Sou'wester staff, and especially to Miss Marcella Wichman, the Associate Editor, who was "always there to help"; and finally, to all the members of the Student Body of Southwestern who were so anxious to cooperate.

As the last page of the Sou'wester is completed, I sincerely hope that this yearbook presents a change for a changing Southwestern University.
